Judge Benton

Announces.

In this issue we carry the official announcement of Judge Benton that he will be a candidate to succeed himself as Circuit Judge of the Twenty-Fifth Judicial District, comprising Powell, Madison, Jessamine and Clark counties. Judge Benton is too well known throughout the district to need much comment on his announcement. For the past twelve years he has filled the office of Circuit Judge to the entire satisfaction of those who have found it necessary to have recourse to the law. Of course there are exceptions. Some have found that his rigid enforcement of the election laws was rather embarrassing, as his action in jailing a prominent Clark county man met with some criticism at the time, but in the light of later events, that feeling mostly died out. The majority of the people have now decided that elections should be fought on the grounds of the qualifications of the candidates, and not on the amount of money that they are willing to spend. Judge Benton was one of the first judges to start a "clean election" campaign, and it has borne good fruit, many other judges throughout the state having followed his example, with the result that a poor man now has as good a show to win an election as a rich one.

Another point in his announcement that makes a hit with the voters and taxpayers is the fact that he has saved the State more than $5,000 a year in the expense of trials, as well as large sums to litigants in civil cases.

Judge Benton has an enviable record with the Court of Appeals as his decisions are very seldom disputed, the litigants coming to the conclusion that is almost useless to contest his decisions, owing to the fact that the Court almost invariably sustains him. This is a big item to those who are forced into litigation and is the means of saving hundreds of dollars to the public.

The experience that Judge Benton has already had, and the Mill Shuts Down

Owing to the high water the Broadhead-Garrett Mill was compelled to shut down Saturday. It was intended to start up again Wednesday, but it was found that the conveyer for taking the refuse across the river had been swept away by the high water. It will probably be two or three days before they are ready to start again.

Doing Good Work.

A party of men sent out by the Industrial Department of the L. & N. are lecturing throughout the upper end of Powell and Wolfe and Menifee counties on the benefits of fruit and truck growing. These men were brought up here through the efforts of Mr. H. G. Garrett, who has been working toward that end for some time past. Mr. Garrett has always taken a keen interest in this work, and hoped that these experts in fruit growing would encourage the farmers to go into this line more extensively. Land is cheap throughout these sections and is admirably adapted to fruit and truck growing, while the railroads have given a special rate on produce that enables the grower to market his produce at a low cost. The L. & N. maintains this staff of experts at their own expense, it being conducted in connection with their industrial department which places factories seeking sites in communication with the Boards of Trade of different municipalities. The editor of The Time is in communication at present with concerns seeking locations through this channel and the probabilities are that some of them will send representatives here soon to look the ground over.

splendid service he has given the public merits the approval of the voters, and it is safe to say that Powell county will give him a good majority.

Lumbermen Meet.

Mr. H. G. Garrett and L. P. Keith, President and Secretary of the Broadhead-Garrett Co., returned Saturday from Cincinnati, where they attended the annual meeting of the American Hardwood Manufacturers Association. Mr. Garrett is authority for the statement that their mill is in the best condition of any in this section of the country in this kind of business. Last year was a disastrous one for the lumber men owing to the European war, but the local mill did 75 per cent normal business, while many others throughout the country reported at the convention that their business was less than 50 per cent normal. This activity is due to several causes. In the first place the local mill is managed by men who know the business from the ground up, and who are able to keep in touch with the general condition of trade all over the country. Then, the mill is equipped with the most up-to-date machinery, and a great variety of work can be turned out. Having their own planing mill they are able to dress lumber when the market demands that kind, and are able at all times to take advantage of market conditions. The lower grades of lumber are manufactured into tobacco hogsheads, an immense business in this line having been built up during the past few years. These points, taken in conjunction with the fact that Clay City enjoys the best shipping rates of any similar place in the country, make it possible to keep the mill running full time. During the past year the mill has only been closed for a few days at Christmas, when the men wanted a holiday, and once or twice for a day when high water in the river stopped work.

The people of Clay City have every reason to be proud of this concern, and their activity at Nada, in the upper end of the county, is being looked forward to with great interest. The new mill there will be ready for operation shortly.

STANTON.

Burnam Skidmore returned last week from a trip down into Alabama where he went down to have a look at the rich black mud soil of that state. Burnam says that Kentucky is good enough for him, and we are glad of it. We do not want to lose any of our good citizens.

Mrs. R. T. Davis, of Jackson, died last week at the hospital in Lexington of cancer of the stomach. She was the mother of John Davis, who married Miss Callie Norton of our town. Mr. Davis was called from his home in Lima, Ohio, to attend the funeral. His wife is here visiting with her people, Mr. and Mrs. Ance Norton.

The mass meeting held at the Court House to protest against the action recently brought against Stanton College was well attended and much enthusiasm was manifested. Speeches were made and the following resolution was adopted:

"Realizing the great benefit that the people of Stanton, Powell county and vicinity derive from Stanton College, and that in the coming years it will grow as a college and will bring up our town by bringing in a splendid class of citizens and will make our town known as an educational center; and realizing that she has a splendid corps of teachers who give to our scholars the very best training that a high school can give and that the Principal and teachers are splendid Christian men and women; and realizing the advantages of having such a splendid institution in our midst which will make our town and county better and will build up trade and increase the value of our land and homes; Be it resolved that we pledge to Stanton College our heartiest support and co-operation; that we deplore the recent action that has been brought against this institution and that it does not express the will of the mass of the people of Stanton and community; be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the Clay City Times to be printed."

All of the best and leading men of Stanton and community signed these resolutions. The writer will not have space to give all the names but he will give the heads of families, Nelson Blount, H. Melroy, R. L. Eversole, Geo. Stephens, M. R. Lyle, Tom McIntosh, John Burgher, Thomas Chaney, John Holder, A. T. Stewart, Virgil Snowden, J. D. Lucas, J. C. Patrick, Henry Faulkner, J. R. Congressman Stanley is receiving a good many letters these days from his supporters throughout the State, and appears to be well satisfied with the outlook for his nomination for Governor of Kentucky. There is very little doubt that should he secure the nomination, he will carry the ticket through. Mr. Stanley is of the aggressive type of candidate, who does not believe in mincing words, and it is this fighting spirit which endears him to many of the voters. Powell county will be pretty sure to hand over a good majority to Mr. Stanley, to judge by the way they have supported him in the past.

Colonel Walton's new paper, The Lexingtonian, is now in full swing and it certainly justifies the opinions formerly expressed. Col. Walton is one of the old-time newspaper men, and he knows how to get out a sheet that is full of interest to the reading public.

If the rain continues to fall for the next few days, Clay City will lose some Clay, as everyone leaving town carries away a few pounds.

To the Democrats of the 25th Judicial District:

In announcing my candidacy for the Democratic nomination for Circuit Judge, I present a record of service of which the closest and most critical inspection is invited. It is recorded in the order books kept in the clerks' offices of the district, and shows that the work of the court has been done by me with a saving to the tax payers of the State of more than $5000.00 a year in the cost of criminal prosecutions and a still larger saving to the litigants in civil cases.

I pledge a continuation of like service, giving maximum efficiency for minimum cost.

I have suggested and secured the adoption of improved rules in the conduct of trials which in a large measure, defeat the law's delays, reduce the cost, and give the poor man, as nearly as possible an equal opportunity in litigating with that possessed by the rich and powerful litigant.

I have stood and will continue to stand for a rigid enforcement of the criminal laws without respect to persons, applying them to the rich and the poor, the high and the low, alike.

I have stood and will continue to stand for clean elections, demanding that election offenders shall be dealt with just as all other law breakers are.

Clean elections elevate the standard of civic purity, and constitute an advance step in the uplift of humanity. The public conscience has been aroused on this question and its progress must be forward, not backward. It is a great fight and I am proud to be on the right side.

I may not be able to see all the voters of the district in person, as my official duties, which I shall in no wise neglect, demand practically all of my time. I must therefore rely largely upon my friends, in each county, to aid me in the race and guard my interests, assuring them that I shall prosecute the campaign with vigor so that every voter in the district may be made fully acquainted with all the issues involved before he comes to vote.

Gratefully thankful for the loyalty that has been accorded me in the past, I earnestly ask the voters of the district who approve my record and feel that it merits endorsement to again give me their cordial support, pledging to them the best service that my ripened experience enables me to give.

Respectfully,
J. M. BENTON.

Which Shall It Be?

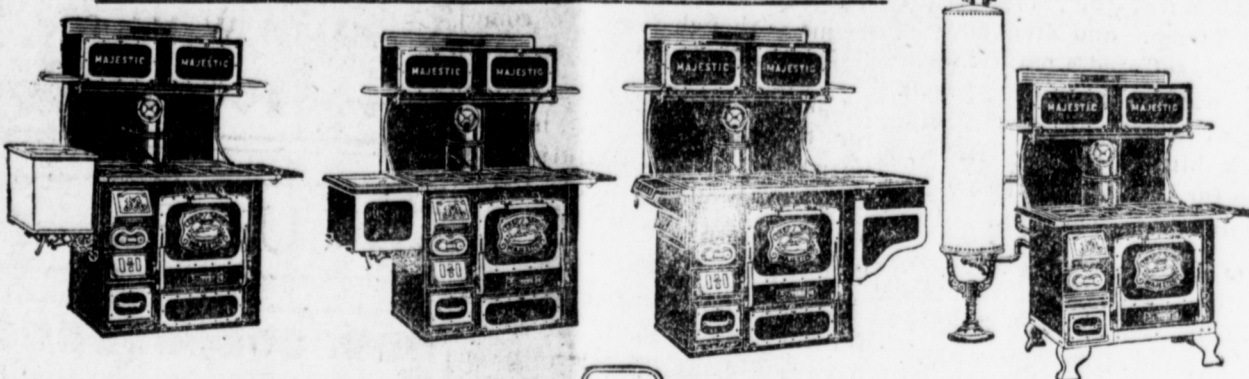

Do you intend to continue laboring, burning valuable fuel and destroying high-priced food with that old worn-out cook stove.

You KNOW that old stove eats up a lot of fuel each year. You KNOW you have trouble in getting it to bake just right. You KNOW it cost considerable for yearly repairs. Stop and think and figure.

Wouldn't it pay you to buy a good range—a range with a reputation—The Great Majestic Malleable and Charcoal Iron Range

You make no mistake in buying the GREAT MAJESTIC—it's the range with a reputation. Then, too, it's made just right and of the right kind of material—Malleable and Charcoal iron—riveted together practically air tight—lined with asbestos—parts being malleable can't break—has a movable reservoir and an oven that doesn't warp—that's why the Majestic uses so little fuel, bakes just right every day in the year, (breads bread just right all over without turning,) heats 15 gallons of water while breakfast is cooking—properly handled lasts a lifetime, and costs practically nothing for repairs. Don't buy the range you expect to last a lifetime, "unsight, unseen," you'll be sure to be disappointed. Come to our store during demonstration week, see the GREAT MAJESTIC—have its many exclusive feature explained—find out just why the Majestic is 300% stronger than other ranges where most ranges are weakest.

"I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky.

"It certainly has no equal for la grippe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. Searching For Missing Heirs.

The Blackmore Geneological Society of California has written Postmaster Waldron at Waltersville making inquiry about heirs to a rich inheritance in California. The names of the families sought are Ringold, Hynes and Ingram. This estate was left by a Mrs. Hynes, who recently passed away without heirs. Mrs. Hynes was a Miss Ingram who ran away from some Eastern Kentucky county back in the forties and married Hynes. They emigrated to Nebraska where Hynes died in 1870 without any living children. Mrs. Hynes then moved to California and invested the estate left by her husband in lands there, which accumulated a nice little fortune. A reward of $100 is offered for the location of the heirs.

As there is a family of Ingrams in this county and the Hynes family is scattered in both of our neighboring counties of Estill and Montgomery, it might profit them to investigate this matter.

"And Jack! How's Jack?"
"Jack?" I said, as in a dream. "Jack? Oh Jack's all right. Jack's fine. And I suppose you and Jack will now fix things up for—"
"Grand scenery this!" shouted Cecil, to shut me up. "Oh the grandest scenery I've ever saw."
And then—the arrival of Cecil at the ranch—and into my brother's arms.

"So That Dub Is Coming to See you?"
You never saw such a meeting of two people in love in all your life. And without further ado, Jack, who was owner of the Flying U, turned the assembled boys who had come to meet Cecil. And he said:—said it out so much as "by your permit from Cecil—Jack said:
"Permit me, boys, to introduce lady of my heart, the future of the Flying U."
"Hurray!" shouted the boys.

forever for the first lady of the Flying U!"
Cecil hadn't been "in our midst" two days before Dunk Whitaker returned from Butte.
With Dunk came Senator Rich. Rich himself carried the painting. We all assembled in the parlor—every one of us.
When we were all at last assembled, Dunk arose to make the formal speech of his life.
"Ladies and gents," he said, "it is my pleasure and privilege to introduce to you the greatest statesman in America—my friend, Senator Rich. Senator Rich is my friend. My friend has consented to buy this beautiful picture painted by our esteemed and beloved doctor, the sister of my partner. The senator herewith will now write a check for the painting which he has bought."
"Hurray!" cried the boys.
"One moment!" I called, stepping to the front, interposing between the senator and Dunk Whitaker.
The senator was preparing to write the check.
"Make out that check," I said to the senator, "to Mr. Claude Bennett. For Claude Bennett is the artist who painted that picture—not I."
Dunk was already beginning to go to pieces.
"Claude Bennett!" Dunk gasped. "Who's he? Where is he?"
"He's right here in our midst," I said, drawing Chip to the front.
"Hurray for Chip!" cried the boys.
"No!" I protested. "Hurray for Mr. Claude Bennett!"
"Glad to see you again, Bennett," cried the senator, recognizing Chip. "Why, ladies and gentlemen, Mr. Claude Bennett is the man to whom I owe my life. He saved my life under circumstances most heroic—two years ago—in the river."
Claude and the senator shook hands like old pals.
Dunk Whitaker seemed to be disintegrating in his person. The architecture of his life seemed to be settling.
"Yes!" resumed the senator. "I must inform everybody—it is my duty—I must inform all of you now as to the identity of the foreman whom you have till now known only as Chip. This man is Mr. Claude Bennett, son of the president of one of the greatest banks in New York. His father is a millionaire many times over. And Claude Bennett is his sole heir."
Dunk now collapsed completely. He sank limply into a chair and feebly consulted a time table informing him as to the time at which the first train would leave town for Butte, Mont.
And—well, of course, if you must know—Chip and I met a few minutes later by a haystack. And before we left that haystack—it was all over.
"I loved you, Chip," I confessed—and delighted to make the confession—

"I loved you long before I met you. Your mother used to pay me just for the privilege of talking to me about you."

Derickson, G. M. Derickson, Romulus Jackson, J. T. Adams, Dr. I. W. Johnson, D. R. Clark, W. H. Whithead, Sherman Tharp, Clifton Chaney, Jason Holder, Dr. J. E. Lemmings, Albert Skidmore, T. G. Skidmore, J. C. Conlee, T. C. Martin, and Wm. Stephens. Besides these most of the good wives of these men have signed them and a host of others. As you look over these names you will see that it takes in pretty near every body in Stanton. It would probably include almost every body if the writer could have got to see the others. Only three men have refused to sign so far. As fast as others can be seen they will be given the opportunity of signing. The writer has had a request made that these resolutions be circulated over the county as there are hundreds of others who want to sign. Many have sent word to the writer that they want to sign. We were rather surprised at the tremendous approval given these resolutions. We had expected to find more opposition than we did and were pleasantly surprised. The writer wishes he could tell the friends of the college all the good words that have been spoken in its favor. It takes a trying time like this to find out who are the real friends and who are willing to stand by and uphold this splendid institution. It can well be proud of its loyal supporters. Resolutions were adopted at this mass meeting calling for a county-wide mass meeting at the first day of the March term of Circuit court at 1 o'clock at the Court House, there to be speaking and addresses made by prominent citizens. Also resolutions were adopted to employ another lawyer to assist Mr. J. D. Atkinson in the defense of Stanton College. One of the finest lawyers in Eastern Kentucky and a great friend of the college has offered his services if needed, and it is likely that he will be retained.

LOCAL NEWS

The store at Argyle was robbed a few nights ago, a quantity of merchandise being taken.

Eaton and McGuire are having a big demonstration sale of Majestic ranges next week. See their ad in this issue.

The cold weather last week made some splendid skating on the canal, but Saturday's snow, followed by the rain, put an end to it.

The special meetings at the Methodist church are attracting good crowds and Pastor Ritchie is delivering some excellent sermons.

Some people say the world is getting worse. We don't believe it. We saw Butch McClure and Herbert Waldron at church the other night.

Reports from Winchester state that Mr. J. C. M. Day, who has been ill at his home there for several weeks past, is now improving, and will soon be around again.

The Clay City National Bank made another shipment of gold this week to Cleveland. This is the second installment in payment for the stock allotted them in the Federal Reserve Bank.

The heavy rain following the snow caused a big tide in the river, and all the bottom lands have been flooded. Had the rain continued a little longer it is quite likely that the streets would have been covered.

Walter Smethers and Miss Alice Hutton were married Saturday night at the residence of Mr. Adams, in Mechanicsville. Rev. L. F. Mann officiated. The Times joins in wishing the young couple every happiness.

The Farmers' Union Store is placing an order for a car of assorted grass seed. Those requiring seed for the coming season will do well to see Frank Kennon before next Wednesday, when the order is to be sent away.

The recent cold weather was very hard on the quail throughout the county and large numbers of them froze to death. One or two farmers who know the value of these birds to the farm, placed feed out for them, and saved many of them from starvation.

Charles Wilson, former Chief of Police of Mt. Sterling, was found dead close to the trestle at Lulbegrud Wednesday night. It is not known whether he fell off the trestle or was struck by a train. Mr. Wilson had his blood hound with him and was trying to locate the parties who broke into the store at Argyle. The dog was also killed, being found beside his master. It is supposed that the dog may have pulled him off the trestle.

The meeting at the Methodist church will continue throughout this week and till Sunday night. The pastor will preach each evening on such subjects as "Excuses," "A Peculiar People," "A Great Salvation," "The Value of a Human Soul," etc.

Every body is urged to attend. Let all who love the Lord and lost souls pray earnestly, and in song and word help in this battle against sin and Satan.

E. H. Ritchie, P. C.

Dr. J. W. Williams is inaugurating a big Booster campaign which should mean a large increase in business for his stores. The Doctor has always believed in the efficiency of printers' ink, and says that advertising pays. You will benefit by reading their ads over closely.

Brodhead-Garrett's new mill at Nada is nearly completed and will soon be in operation. This will be one of the best and most up-to-date mills in the State, having all the latest and most modern equipment. The logs will all be brought in on the railroad owned by the company, effecting a big saving over the river.
